

Raining Cats

Title: Raining Cats

Genre: Dramedy, Coming of Age

Market Audience: Gilmore Girls, My Dog Skip

Log Line: A young girl overcomes the death of her pet cat by rescuing all the strays in her neighborhood - meanwhile, her single mother finds romance with the local mall Santa Claus.

- ◆ Screencraft Family-Friendly finalist
- ◆ Screencraft Fellowship semi-finalist
- ◆ Austin FF Screenwriting contest 2nd Round/top 15%

When you're afraid of the world, how can you be a hero?

CONTACT: Deb Havener, writer/producer, debhavener@gmail.com, 614.264.6679

LOI's from Gigi Rice (Lifetime's Army Wives) and Ted McGinley (Married with Children).

A note from Nicholl Fellowship writer Deborah Havener

When I sat down to write Raining Cats the words poured out like a rainstorm.

This story is for anyone who has ever lost a pet.

It's for anyone who was ever afraid to speak up.

It's for anyone who still struggles to find their voice and a sense of worth.

And it's for all of us who are afraid to find the hero within.

And did I mention it's also a comedy?

This young adult/family story is dedicated to the animals who have suffered in our war zones, to those who were left behind during our natural disasters, and to those discarded beings we walk by on the street every day without a glance.

And it's for a three-legged cat name Banjo who helped me find a sense of belonging.

CONTACT: Deb Havener, writer/producer, debhavener@gmail.com, 614.264.6679